Introductory.

Grateful to God for the blessings of the past year, and duly appreciative of the many courtesies and hearty support of patrons and friends, we again invite you to send your daughters to enjoy the exalted advantages afforded by this institution which has proved so rich a blessing to thousands in the past. The College will continue its aim—thoroughness, and a high standard in culture and character. Thorough understanding of subjects, with a view to practical application, will be attempted, rather than to compass too great a range to the neglect of understanding any.

To carry out this purpose, the Faculty has been selected with great care; neither time, pains, nor expense being spared to secure the best to be found for their respective departments. Our teachers come with very high indorsements from leading colleges, universities and conservatories where they have been educated and have taught. We shall endeavor, by faithful work, to merit esteem and win confidence. We most cordially invite the friendly support and co-operation of former patrons, and hope many new ones may be added.

Parties considering the College will please read the register carefully. We endeavor to represent the School as it is, making no promises which we do not expect to fulfill. We expect to conform to our regulations, and must insist that pupils and patrons do likewise. Correspondence is invited. Address all communications to

The President.

History of Athens Female College

Athens Female College is the second oldest chartered institution for the education of young women in the world. It has proven a rich heritage to several generations, and is an enduring monument to the wisdom and foresight of its founders. The enterprise was projected in October, 1842, at the annual session of the Tennessee Conference, which was held in Athens; and in 1843 a charter was obtained from the Legislature of Alabama, incorporating the Female Institute of the Tennessee Annual Conference. The dignity and high character of the undertaking was amply manifested in the selection of the trustees named in the act of incorporation—viz., A. L. P. Green, Thomas Maddin, Ambrose F. Driskill, Joshua Butcher, Frederick G. Ferguson, Daniel Coleman, Ira E. Hobbs, Benj. W. Maclin, Thomas Bass, James F. Sowell, Thos. Stith Malone, Jas. C. Malone, Wm. Richardson, Geo. S. Houston, Richard W. Vasser, Jonathan McDonald and James Craig.

The lofty aim of the institution was further shown in the election of the learned and sweet-spirited Dr. R. H. Rivers as its first president.

In 1869 the North Alabama Conference was organized, embracing the Northern portion of Alabama, in which Athens is located, and thus acquiring all of the church property in this section formerly belonging to the Tennessee

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

Conference; and in this way the Institute became the possession of the North Alabama Conference.

In 1872 the charter was amended, changing the name to the Athens Female Institute; and was again amended in 1889, changing the name to the Athens Female College.

The beautiful Ionic structure erected in 1843 by the founders, has been twice added to, a spacious chapel, with dormitories above, having been built recently. The entire structure is of brick, the main body being three stories high.

Athens Female College has been a Church institution from the inception of the enterprise, and is to-day the only property for the education of young women owned by the North Alabama Conference; and while the Conference has always taken a just pride in its history and work, there is abundant evidence of a larger and deeper interest now than has ever heretofore been manifested.

The College has an honorable history, a worthy present, and a future full of promise. It is enshrined in the hearts of thousands. There are mothers all over the South who reflect with thanksgiving upon the gracious influences shed upon them while students in its classic halls, and remember with loving kindness the advice and training received from the long line of eminent and worthy presidents, whose lives were a benediction.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE.

Athens

Athens, the county seat of Limestone County, has about 2,000 population, is situated on the main line of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, and is the second highest point on that line between Cincinnati and the Gulf. It is free from malaria and all diseases pertaining to low countries. Yellow fever has never developed here.

The town has an excellent water and electric light plant, a well-equipped local telephone exchange, with a wide country connection, is on the line of the long distance telephone from New York to New Orleans, and enjoys first-class railroad, telegraph, mail, and express facilities.

Athens is situated in the heart of the Tennessee Valley, is one of the oldest towns in Alabama, has long been noted for the culture and refinement of its society, and has, perhaps, contributed to the State more distinguished men than any other town in Alabama. It is an ideal place for a seat of learning.

The Past Year

has been pleasant and prosperous. The matriculations have exceeded our expectations. Seven States and a Territory have been represented. The student body has been far above ordinary. Earnest thorough work has been done. The course of study has been materially advanced. Health has been exceptionally good. Our doctor's bills have averaged less than fifty cents to the girl.

Remarks on Course of Study

Great care should be exercised in arranging a course of study. To give to each pupil just the work suited to her capacity involves the wisest power of discrimination. The character and quality of the work done and the mental discipline attained, rather than the quantity of work and the number of subjects studied, make the scholar.

After careful study and consultation and years of experience, we have arranged our course of study, as we believe, on psychological principles, the subjects following each other in logical order. Beginning with natural methods and object lessons in the kindergarten, the child is led by successive steps through the primary and intermediate grades to the collegiate course, thus developing symmetry of thought and power of reason, and laying a firm base for broad and real culture.

Elective Course

While insisting on the course of study prescribed for graduation, we do not consider it wise to compel a student to prosecute a course regardless of her individual taste and capacity. To meet individual cases an elective course has been provided, offering excellent advantages to those wishing to pursue particular studies without reference to graduation. In this course certificates are given indicating the amount and quality of work done.

To complete the course in voice, students must have taken a two years' course in piano and the required work in theory.

Elocution

The object of this department is to produce effective readers and speakers; to substitute simple, natural methods of expression for the faulty delivery which commonly prevails in reading circles and in schools. The teaching of Elocution in this school is based upon the principal that expression is caused by mind or soul; that it is the embodiment of reflection within, and that it is powerful in proportion to the strength back of it. The following general outline will indicate the scope of the work.

Physical training (Del Sarte and Swedish Gymnastics) daily.

Respiration, Vocal Culture, Articulated Gesture.

The laws of Inflection and Emphasis, Analysis and Reading, Practical and Dramatic. Artistic Recitations.

TEXT BOOKS—Shoemaker's Practical Elocution, Murdock's Analytic Elocution. Southwick's Primer, Shakespeare's Plays.

Art

The object of this department is :

1. To provide opportunities for those who wish to become teachers
2. To give pleasing accomplishment to those who are pursuing other studies and wish to devote a part of their time to art.
3. To aid in developing and directing a love of nature and enable students to make sketches of scenes that attract them.

The work consists in :

- I. Drawing from simple objects.
 - II. Drawing from cast (with which the studio is well supplied.)
 - III. Still life studies in oil, water colors or pastel.
 - IV. Drawing and painting from life.
 - V. China Painting, including Royal Worcester, Dresden, Flower, Raised Gold and Enamel.
 - VI. Pen and ink drawing. Tapestry painting.
- More advanced pupils may be admitted to the portrait class.
- Two afternoons of each week will be devoted to out-of-doors sketching. An excellent kiln has been provided and the china will be fired in the college.

General Remarks

Kindergarten

The object of this department is to associate children with each other in a pure atmosphere, under the wise guidance of a teacher who may give direction to the abundant energy of childlife at this important period. By conversation, lessons, drill, games, and songs, the study of size, form and color from charts and objects, molding, etc., our little ones learn, in a very short time, case, grace, and self-reliance, and to read and spell without conscious effort. No text-book is used.

Primary Course

Passing from the Kindergarten to the Primary Course, the same natural methods are observed. The use of the chart, object lessons, and geometrical forms is continued. The child mind is developed in a manner at once charming and instructive. Recognizing the importance of early impressions, we place in charge of this department one of our best trained teachers, believing no more fatal mistake can be made than to suppose that "anyone can teach the primaries."

The English Language

Due attention is given "Our mother tongue." English must be learned theoretically and practically. Grammar must be understood before passing to the Course in Rhetoric.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE.

and both these before the Course in Literature is considered complete. The course is arranged to develop culture and give mental discipline. The author will be studied both from his biography and through the medium of his works. His life and ideals constitute a vital point of investigation. Throughout the course frequent essays on literary topics are required. Beside the text-book frequent parallel readings are used.

Natural Science

Effort is made to make the course practical. The text-book is used as a text. Subjects are illustrated by experiments, before and by the class. Students are expected to make observations, collate facts, make deductions, and classify. They will have opportunity to visit and investigate telephone and telegraph offices, electric plant, steam engines, and other appliances, illustrating the principles being studied. Students of Botany and Geology are expected to make individual collections and herbaria. Students of Astronomy must study the heavens in connection with the book. A number of valuable specimens have been recently added to the geological and natural history cabinet. We invite contributions.

Latin and Greek

Much importance is attached to the study of the classics. Forms and special drills are required from the beginning, gradually followed by easy translations and composition.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

Frequent practice in sight reading is given. The course is designed to give mental discipline and to gain a comprehensive idea of the language and life of these great people, whose writings still influence the world. "No one can be considered cultured who does not know his Latin and Greek."

French and German

There is a growing demand for a knowledge of the living languages. The easy modes of travel bring us into close relation with these two great nations and indicate the importance of a knowledge of their tongue. There is no study better suited to the development of reason and memory than that of language. Correct form, translations, and a study of the idioms are demanded. These are best learned through conversation and composition.

Spanish

Recent events have created a demand for a knowledge of the Spanish Language. It will be studied as a written and a spoken language in our course.

The Bible

No one can be considered well educated who is ignorant of the Bible, the book of books, the basis of all learning, philosophy and morals. Our course embraces four years of study topically arranged. Constant reference is made to Hurlbut's and Coleman's Manuals, Standard Commentaries,

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

Bible Dictionaries with which the library is supplied, but the Bible is the text-book and will be used as such. Beginning with oral instruction in the Kindergarten and Bible stories in the primary, it may be truly said, "The Bible influence permeates the entire course."

Music

Is no longer considered a mere accomplishment, but is an essential part of a well rounded education. Extensive courses of study have been prepared, following the conservatory methods in both vocal and instrumental music. Harmony, Theory and History of Music are essential to a broad education in this department. Special instruction will be given in these branches. Frequent recitals given in the college hall by the pupils enable them to acquire ease and self-possession in performing before others.

"Music elevates the whole being, refines the dress of nature and leads to purer, nobler life."

Chorus and Orchestra

Perhaps no feature of the school affords more pleasure to the performers themselves and their hearers than the well drilled Chorus and Orchestra. They afford opportunity of doing concerted work and give a necessary drill in these departments. They are a permanent feature of the school.

SECTION OF COLLEGE ORCHESTRA.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

Literary Societies

These societies exercise a wholesome influence upon the mental growth of the members. Carrying forward the business features of the societies, selecting and arranging programs for the bi-weekly meetings not only promote literary culture and stimulate individual research, but tend to habits of independent thought and self-reliance. There are two of these societies. They meet on alternate Wednesday afternoons. They excite a pleasant emulation in each other, and thus conduce to best methods and highest effort. All girls above the preparatory classes are expected to belong to one of the societies.

Library

A good library is an essential feature of a well ordered college. Our students are expected to do a great deal of topical work, independent of text-books, which require the use of reference books. In addition to works of reference, classics, etc., our library will be supplied with popular magazines.

A weekly class in current events will serve to keep alive the interest in living history and awaken a desire to keep abreast of the times. Each student above the primary grade will, on entering school, pay one dollar library fee to be invested in new books for the school.

During the past year more than 60,000 pages of reference, beside valuable reading matter have been added to our library.

Lectures and Recitals

Recognizing the educational value of personal contact with eminent scholars and thinkers, we shall, with the co-operation of the citizens of Athens, secure some of the best talent of the platform, thus keeping in touch with the live advance thought of to-day. We expect to have, during the coming winter, a number of distinguished lecturers, musicians and impersonators. Lectures on the various subjects studied will be given as occasion demands.

Religious Privileges

Our one object is to develop a cultured Christian character. Our girls will attend the church of their parents' choice Sunday morning. Morning and evening worship will be conducted in the chapel daily. The Missionary Society is a permanent institution among our girls. They will have also, their weekly prayer meeting, which will be a potent factor in developing spirituality. Trained in these organizations, there will be awakened an interest in the various phases of Christian work, which will be felt in the homes and churches to which they shall go.

Reviews and Examinations

Frequent reviews are made in all subjects. Written examinations will be held at the end of each quarter, which all students above the primary grade are required to take, unless for special reasons, excused by the faculty.

Any girl absenting herself from these examinations without valid excuse, subjects herself to censure and penalty.

An average grade of 75 will be required in all subjects, before passing to a higher course.

Certificates and Diplomas

Certificates of proficiency will be conferred on all students who have maintained an average grade of 85, throughout the year, provided their deportment has not fallen below 90.

A Certificate of Distinction will be awarded to those whose average grade is above 95 provided their deportment has not fallen below 95.

The Diploma of the College will be issued to those who have finished satisfactorily either of the courses required for a degree.

Pupils are admitted on trial to those classes for which they are prepared, but candidates for graduation, entering above the Freshman year, must pass approved examinations on that part of the course which they have not taken in this school. Certificates from reputable schools will be accepted instead of these examinations.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

Our Aim

It is the one aim of the College to develop pure, strong, symmetrical character, "that our daughters may be as corner stones polished after the similitude of a palace." A constant effort will be made to imbue our girls with a spirit of sincerity and honesty of purpose which will prepare them for the highest mission of life. Believing that the underlying principles are the same in the education of boys and girls, we teach our pupils to think, to weigh evidence, to discriminate. Careful analyses of subjects are insisted upon. Exhaustive research and full original treatises, are, from time to time, required. We shall spare no pains to make the home attractive to our girls and see that they go from us with cultured minds, pure hearts and elegant manners.

To the Alumni

Many fond memories cluster around your Alma Mater. The noble men and women under whom you studied, who shed an inspiration into your life, whose memory is so dear to your heart, are no longer here in bodily presence. But your beloved Alma Mater remains, a common tie, and the sacred memories of other years still cluster here. Perpetuate those memories; first, by organizing and attending, at least annually, an Alumni Association. Second, by sending your daughters and grand-daughters, and those of your friends to be educated within the same sacred and historic precincts that did so much for you. Any information concerning them will be thankfully received, and information concerning the school will be cheerfully given.

All Alumni are invited to meet at the College Friday, May 18, 1900, when it is hoped a permanent organization will be effected.

Building and Grounds

All the Rooms Have Outside Windows

In a retired part of the town, back in a magnificent grove of oaks, evergreens, maples and poplars, stands the College building, a massive and imposing structure of brick. Majestic columns add grace and beauty, and at once impress the beholder. Long halls crossing at right angles and outside windows for every room insure excellent ventilation; six stairways in front and rear afford ample means for escape in case of accident or fire. A spacious new chapel 75 x 40 with sloping floor, and additional bed-rooms, have been recently completed. The rooms are large and comfortably furnished. Ten acres of groves and gardens afford ample and attractive recreation grounds, allowing space for tennis courts, croquet grounds, etc. Within the past year the house has been renovated. The rooms and halls have been newly papered and carpeted; hot and cold water supplied to each floor; electric lights put in each room and study hall; dustless talc crayons and blackboards have superseded the objectionable chalk. Many new casts and models have been supplied for the studio.

Through the generosity of the "Class of 99" our large campus has been set in blue grass and otherwise adorned.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

Articles to be furnished

Boarders and teachers will furnish their own toilet articles, napkins, napkin rings, one pair plain pillowcases, one pair of blankets, and one pair of sheets each. The beds are double.

Bed-Rooms

All the rooms of the College are well furnished and are expected to be filled according to their capacity. When fewer than the required number wish to occupy an apartment, they can do so by paying extra for the reserved room.

Dress

It is our purpose to avoid all extravagance in dress. To prevent unpleasant rivalry and for economical purposes we have adopted for the boarding students the "Oxford Cap and Gown," as represented in the accompanying cut. (To insure uniformity these must be purchased in Athens.) This is the simplest, most useful and cheapest uniform in use. It is used by all the great universities in England, and some of the greatest colleges of America. Besides the striking appearance of the Oxford Cap and Gown it is comfortable and pleasant to wear. The Gown can be worn as a dress in early fall and as a cloak in winter. The cost is very light compared to other uniforms. (We have contracted for the cap and gown to be furnished for seven dollars.) Boarding pupils are required to appear in uniform on the street, at church, and on public occasions. A neat white dress should be provided for concert occasions.

No member of the college family is expected to appear in public in low neck and short sleeve dress.

8. Throwing anything or conversing from the windows.
9. Sending or receiving communications of any kind from young gentlemen.
10. Borrowing clothing, books, jewelry, or anything from each other.
11. Visiting music rooms when not on duty without permission.
12. Spending the night out of the College.
13. Exchanging rooms without permission.
14. Taking lessons outside the College.
15. Reading or circulating novels, newspapers, or literature or any kind without the approval of the president.
16. Leaving the room after the retiring bell, or visiting from room to room on the Sabbath.
17. Contracting debts at the stores or elsewhere without the written permission from parents or guardian.
18. Dancing, novel reading, card playing, theatres, or attending parties or places of public amusement.
19. Spending Christmas holidays away from the College without permission of parents or guardians, and such permission is discouraged.
20. On shopping days going to half dozen or more stores to get two or three small articles.

No young lady who is unwilling to subscribe to the above regulations need apply for admission.

No calls are received on the Sabbath by the president, teachers, or pupils, except in case of sickness or distress; provided, however, that the teachers not on duty may receive proper escorts to evening service.

Duties and Requirements of Teachers

Teachers are required to be prompt, faithful and zealous in the discharge of all their duties. Also to make themselves familiar with the rules of the college, so as to maintain good order and enforce discipline.

1. To be punctual in attendance at all daily religious exercises of the college.
2. To make the recitation rooms pleasant and attractive, and see that they are kept in good order.
3. To inspect daily the furniture in their several departments; also pianos, guitars, organs and apparatus, and to report to the president any damage done.
4. To teach the pupils good morals and gentle manners.
5. To keep an accurate account of recitations and deportment, and make the president a monthly report of same.
6. To have special care of boarders at night, to see that they are all in their rooms at the proper time, attend to their studies, obey the rules and regulations, and report violations of the same to the proper authorities.
7. To accompany the pupils in their daily walks to Church, Sabbath School and occasionally to stores.
8. To hear complaints in a good spirit.
9. To preserve harmony and good fellowship among themselves.
10. Not to speak in terms of disparagement of a fellow-teacher.
11. Not to shrink from vindicating and preserving the law and order of the College through fear of giving offense to the pupils.
12. Not to give instruction of any kind out of the College.
13. Not to receive calls during school hours. For gentlemen, Friday night is reception night.
14. Not to take part in any public exhibitions, concerts, etc., in the city without the consent of the president.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

15. Not to attend theatres, dances, or play cards, not to attend shows of any kind unless approved by the president.

16. Not to leave the city without first notifying the president.

17. Not to purchase articles of any description, at home or abroad, for pupils, without the consent of the president.

18. Teachers are required to maintain perfect order and decorum at the tables at which they preside during meals.

19. Teachers are not allowed to accompany young men driving.

20. Teachers are required to attend church with the pupils in a body.

The violation of any of the above rules shall be equivalent to a resignation upon the part of the teacher.

A Word to Patrons

Write your daughters or wards encouraging letters. We advise you to send them no eatables except at Christmas, as they are a positive disadvantage, and more sickness occurs from that cause than any other. Good ripe fruit may be sent, but boxes of meats, cakes and confectionery will not be delivered to girls.

Discourage their visits home: as a general rule, they are injurious to the pupil.

Rest assured that if your daughters or wards are sick they will be properly cared for; and if sick enough to need your attention, you will be notified.

If you cannot come with your daughters or wards, put them on the cars, notify the president of the College, and they will be met at the depot. On arriving, come directly to the College.

Every effort should be made to secure regular, punctual and constant attendance, as this alone will insure the progress and improvement of the pupil.

No boarding pupil is permitted to spend the night out of the College unattended by parent or guardian. Visiting is not advisable, and patrons are urged not to request it.

There are certain rules for the government of the entire school, and to which every pupil must conform. Patrons must not expect exceptional permits to their daughters, for were they granted, dissatisfaction and demoralization would be the result. Co-operation between patrons and teacher is solicited, and an earnest plea made that girls be kept out of Society.

Limit the personal expenses of your daughters to a definite amount per month, and require them to furnish you an itemized statement. This will promote order and economy.

Deposits should be made with the principal to pay for all books, stationery, sheet-music, etc. Young ladies should not be allowed to make accounts at stores.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

Christian Home

A delightful Christian home, where your daughters will have the best attention and at the same time thorough instruction.

Visitors

We cordially invite the Trustees, patrons, and all friends of the College to visit us, go through the various departments, and witness our method of instruction.

Testimonials

From DR. L. C. GARLAND, Chancellor of Vanderbilt University.--This is to certify that while Prof. H. W. Browder was a student of this University he was universally esteemed as a high-toned, Christian gentleman and an excellent scholar. He is, in my judgement, worthy of the fullest confidence of any locality in which he chooses to fix his abode.

From JAMES H. FUQUA, Professor of Mathematics, Bethel College, Russellville, Ky.—I hereby cheerfully state that I have known Prof. H. W. Browder very intimately from his childhood, and cordially bear testimony to his unimpeachable moral character. When at school he was unusually attentive and remarkably accurate in his investigations, and hence always stood very high for profound and critical scholarship. He has had excellent opportunities for acquiring a broad and liberal education. He is a thorough, classical and scientific scholar, with extensive culture and research in literature.

From W. F. WHITESIDES, Proprietor of Cedar Bluff College,—Prof. H. W. Browder has given entire satisfaction as President of our college. During twenty-seven years' experience in employing teachers I have not found his superior as a well-rounded Christian educator. I could unhesitatingly commit my child to his care, feeling sure that the physical, mental and moral nature would receive proper attention.

From REV. JOHN J. TIGERT, D.D., Book Editor, Nashville, Tenn.—I have known Hanson W. Browder for many years. He was a successful student at Vanderbilt University. He has always maintained an unblemished moral character. He has had several years' experience as a teacher. I unhesitatingly commend him to the confidence of all. He will carry out any engagement into which he enters.

From JAMES A. LEWIS, P. E., Russellville District, Russellville, Ky. I have known Rev. H. W. Browder from his very childhood. His family lineage is of the best, his personal history without a blot. He has had fine opportunities and improved them. His excellency as a student, as attested by his instructors, appears in his present ripe scholarship. As a teacher I have heard him highly spoken of by his former patrons. He is not given to gush. He thinks more than he talks, and does more than he promises. He is a true Southern gentleman, with merit and modesty, with high attainments, without pretence, with courage and gentleness. Parents committing their daughters to his charge need have no anxious thought about their welfare. They will find in him a faithful guardian and a most competent and conscientious instructor, both in letters and religion.

From REV. W. S. RYLAND, D.D., President Bethel College, Russellville, Ky.—It gives me sincere pleasure to say that I regard the Rev. H. W. Browder as one of the best of men. Taking easily for granted that his scholarship and natural endowments are two well known to the public to need commendation from me, I speak what I best know of him, in saying that I value the moral and religious influence of such a man, in the training of youth, far more than the most brilliant gifts. He has clear and strong convictions and is fearless in expressing them; is conscientious in his work, and consecrated to his Masters' service. He is a safe guardian and a wise guide for the girls and young ladies who may be placed in his care.

From REV. GEORGE SUMMEY, D.D., Chancellor Southwestern Presbyterian University, Clarksville, Tenn.—Rev. H. W. Browder has been, for three years, the Principal of the Clarksville Academy for Young Ladies. During this time I sent my daughter to that institution. In the character and ability of the teachers employed and in the character of the work done in the institution, he showed wisdom and ability in administration. I was thoroughly satisfied with the training my daughter received.

From PROF. A. G. MURPHEY, President Logan Female College.—Prof. H. W. Browder having been a member of the Logan Female College Faculty for over three years, I take great pleasure in bearing testimony to his scholarship, teachability, and disciplinary powers, in all of which he ranks high. He rules with gentleness and yet with great firmness. Not only does he possess the qualifications and characteristics so essential in a good teacher, but as a Christian citizen he wins the respect of all classes and the love of all good people. I most cordially commend him to the favorable consideration of all who may have the fortune to make his acquaintance.

From REV. GEORGE W. F. PRICE, D.D., President Nashville College for Young Ladies.—I have, for several years, been honored with the acquaintance of Prof. H. W. Browder, and I am glad to testify to the pleasing impression made upon my mind by his scholarly bearing, his refined courtesy, and his intelligent interest in Christian education. His successful scholastic residence as a student in Vanderbilt University, his acceptable work at Logan Female College in Kentucky, and more recently at Clarksville, Tenn., have commended him both to the public and to myself, as a scholar, a gentleman and a teacher.

From PROF. R. E. CROCKET, President Vanderbilt Training School. I have been personally acquainted with Prof. H. W. Browder for five years, and am able most cheerfully to recommend him as an educator. Having been closely identified with him while he filled a chair in Logan Female College; never has a word of unfavorable criticism of his work come to my ears. Professor Browder will be found a man of energy, determination, scholarship, and conscience. He has a pleasant address, looks to the highest interest of his students, and impresses himself as a man of high character.

Points to be Considered in the Selection of a School for Girls

Athens Female College Meets the Requirements

Athens Female College was projected as a Christian School, when it ceases to be such its highest mission will have ended. While there is no sectarianism, there is constant effort to bring every girl under the influence of Christianity. God is honored in regular daily worship, and the life and conversation of a Christian faculty, are potent to impress upon the students the duty of being Christians. The pastors of different Churches visit, admonish and encourage. Weekly prayer meetings and missionary societies tend to cultivate a religious habit.

Health

Situated on the second highest point on the L. & N. R. R. between Cincinnati and the Gulf; above malaria, beyond the limit of yellow fever, with the purest, softest water, and most genial climate thoroughly well drained by nature on every side. Athens has been and is the peer of any city of the South in point of health. Hale, vigorous old men and women brought up here and now attending to the active duties of life attest this fact. The record of the College will compare favorably with that of any place, not a serious case of illness here in nearly sixty years. During the past year the Doctor's bills for the girls was less than 50 cts. per capita.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

Refinement—Culture

From the time a girl enters the College there is thrown around her an air of refinement and culture. Teachers have been selected with a view to gentleness and elegance, and their intercourse with our girls, their chaste language and worthy example can but be beneficial to the girls who come within the range of their influence. Slang, loudness and forwardness are discouraged, and a pure, chaste, gentle conversation is insisted upon. Nothing more adorns true womanhood, next to Christian character, than real elegance of women and language.

The Faculty

In the selection of the faculty three essential features have been emphasized.

1. CHRISTIAN CHARACTER.—They are all members of the Church, conforming loyalty to its rules and doctrines, and showing Christ in their lives.

2. THOROUGH PREPARATION FOR THE WORK.—In addition to the ordinary college course they have special training for special work. We advertise thorough work, and to do this we must have experienced and competent teachers. No pupil teachers are employed.

3. SOCIAL STANDING AND ELEGANCE OF MANNERS.—The teacher comes in vital contact with the student at the formative period of life. Her influence, manner, conversation and character will be indellibly impressed. Our teachers come from good families and have social positions. Their example is worthy of imitation.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

The Student Body

With the best environments of home and the Christian influence of parents and teachers it is necessary to guard most zealously the companionship of the young. When the student-body have low or vicious ideals, the best influence of parents and teachers is often worse than neutralized, and a mental or moral contamination results, which in effect may be as lasting as eternity. Never in the history of any college has the student-body ranked higher from a moral or social standpoint than has ours of the past year. The decorum and propriety of our girls and the excellent discipline observed has been a matter of remark by citizens and visitors.

Home and Fare

No wise parent will overlook the bodily comfort of the child. Athens Female College meets the most rigid requirement here. The rooms are all well furnished, lighted, heated, ventilated,—cleanliness is required. The furnishing of the rooms and the table fare is far better than the average girl who comes here has been accustomed to at her home. Good gardens, poultry yard and well fed pigs and calves, keep us always far from the verge of starvation.

Contact With the World

The school girl who has an earnest purpose in view does not need the bustle and commotion of a commercial city. From these there is, for her, little to gain and much to lose. But she does need to come, at intervals, in vital touch with the live wide-a-wake thoughts of to-day. To meet this requirement, leading lecturers, musicians and readers are secured from time to time, from whom our students learn to

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE

“catch the moments living as they live’ Live while they live, Improve time as it flies.”

Social Advantages

This is not a “society” school. The best and truest associations of girls is with mothers, cultured teachers and other girls, but there is implanted in the human heart a desire for the opposite sex. It is natural, it is right. We should not expect to make old maids or nuns of young girls. They are just like their mothers were. At intervals during the year school restrictions are laid aside and some of our best young men and their parents are invited to spend an evening with our girls. But we announce publicly and privately that no young man of low and vicious habits, given to drink or other indecencies is a welcome guest—when he is known to be such a one he is not received.

Cost

What will it cost is, with many, the most important question in connection with the important subject. Parents who are able to and do provide lavishly for their family, in other respects often lay more stress upon a difference of a few paltry dollars in cost, than upon the superior advantages that one school may offer above another. The educational advantages of our girls is the last thing upon which parents should be tempted to practice economy; give them the best at any cost. But owing to the liberality of our forefathers in providing for and the wisdom of the present board of trust in administering the affairs of the school, our rates are as low, not to say lower, than any school of like grade in our land. Compared with other schools to which our people sending off, our rates are as these schools say, “ridiculously low.” Certainly, as low as is consistent with first-class appointments in all departments.
